

“ where caring for you comes first ”

Nilai Medical Centre was first established in 1999 concentrating on clinical research. In 2005, it was bought over by TH Group and was renamed NCI Cancer Hospital and became a pioneer private specialist centre in Malaysia focusing on two core activities: Cancer Treatment and Clinical Research.

In line with the expansion plans to be a full-fledged multi-disciplinary medical hospital, other areas of focus have been established, catering to the healthcare needs of the community it serves.

The team at Nilai Medical is all about building a healthy society through its medical expertise, nursing excellence and customer-centric care. Here, we aspire to create a warm, personal and caring environment to ensure the best possible care management for the patients and their respective families and caretakers.

Right here at Nilai Medical Centre, we truly understand that the cancer treatment journey can be physically and emotionally challenging to patient and family. Many patients also suffered from financial catastrophe, which hinder their decision to continue with treatment and affects recovery rate.

With NMCares, cancer patients can now enjoy a subsidised rate for radiotherapy treatment, all within our facility.

ABOUT NMCares

To apply for NMCares, individuals would need to consult with our oncologists to establish a treatment plan first. Upon recommendation of the most appropriate plan, both patient and family members would be advised on the treatment process and after-care therapy, and will be given sufficient information about the costs incurred.
